The Open Symposium organized by the InfoSyEnergy Research and Education Consortium is held once a year as a valuable opportunity to widely share our thoughts and activities to the public across the world.

This time's keynote speech will be given by Mr. Hirozumi Sone, Director and Chairperson of Azbil Corporation, a member of our consortium.

Since its establishment in 1906, the company has advanced their philosophy “human-centered automation” based on the idea of “liberate people from drudgery” as their starting point. Through the pursuit of it, they aspire to be a corporate organization able to help solve various issues with the aim of contribution to achieve a sustainable society. Mr. Sone leads the Azbil Group by acting initiatives solving a wide range of problems from employee behavior to the implementation of management strategies.
