Public Lectures

Tuesday, June 4, 2024

15:30-17:00(JST) Timo Airaksinen
“The Early 18th Century European
Science, Medicine, and Technology: The Case of George Berkeley”

17:00-18:30(JST) Heta Gylling
“Challenges to Modern Medical Ethics”

We are pleased to announce public lectures by two distinguished philosophers from the University of Helsinki, Prof. Timo Airaksinen and Prof. Heta Gylling, who are currently visiting researchers at the Institute for Liberal Arts. With the imminent merger of Tokyo Institute of Technology and Tokyo Medical and Dental University, their talks will give us a chance to think about the relationship and intersections of science, technology and medicine historically and philosophically.

No registration is required for those attending in person. The lectures will be given in English. They will also be broadcasted via Zoom. Online participants can use the translated subtitles function of Zoom (and select their preferred language for viewing). If you would like to receive the Zoom URL, please register using the following form.
