Privacy Policy

1. Purpose of the Collection of Information

- Tokyo Tech Online Community collects personal information such as name, address, telephone number, employer name, email address, etc. to communicate information on member events, enable exchanges between members, and aid in the management of such activities only.

2. Provision of Information to Third Parties

- Personal information is never disclosed to third parties without consent of members, except in the following cases.

- If the provision of services to members requires disclosure to subcontractors under a confidentiality agreement.
- If disclosure is required by law.

3. Disclosure and Editing of Personal Information

- Members can view and edit personal information stored by the Tokyo Tech Online Community at any time by logging in with their personal login ID and password.

A request for disclosure or modification in writing can also be submitted to the Tokyo Tech Online Community.

4. Regarding Internet Security

- Regarding the input and transmission of important personal information such as a telephone number, this website uses SSL (Secure Socket Layer) encryption to protect the privacy of all users against unauthorized use or modification of personal information.

5. Regarding Use of Cookies

- This website and the members-only site uses Cookies.

By referring to cookies, the web server can identify the computer of the user, enabling the user to use services on the website appropriately.

Cookies can be disabled through browser settings, in which case part or all of the services on the website can no longer be used.

6. Regarding Database Management

- The database that stores members' personal information is managed by an organization internationally certified for information security management systems. A contract regarding the management of the system has been signed with the company below to ensure that unauthorized use of personal information does not occur.

    One-Net Systems Co., Ltd.

    Ishimoto Bldg, 5F, 2-7-4 Higashitenma

    Kita-ku, Osaka

    Tel. 06-4800-4060

7. Disclaimer

- Access to the members-only site is only permitted for members with a personal login ID and password. Tokyo Tech Online Community does not assume any responsibility for use of false identities, malicious use or destruction of personal information or damaged incurred thereof due to the loss or careless safekeeping of login ID or password information.
- Tokyo Tech Online Community strives to review and improve the system periodically to prevent unauthorized use, loss, destruction, falsification, or leakage, etc. of personal information.

Please note that content of this website may be revised or amended without notification to members based on improved network technologies and the needs of the Tokyo Tech Online Community, etc.